

At-Risk for Mental Illness Research Studies

We are seeking young people concerned about the possibility of developing psychosis to participate in our ongoing research studies.

You may be eligible for these studies if you meet the following criteria:

- Ages 12-30 years old
- Recent change in thinking, behavior, or experiences, such as:
 - Confusion about what is real or imaginary
 - Feeling not in control of your own thoughts
 - Feeling suspicious or paranoid
 - Trouble communicating clearly
 - Experiences that may not be real, such as hearing sounds or seeing things that may not be there
 - Having trouble concentrating or thinking clearly
 - Having problems with social activities, school or work
