CWC PCN Nutrition Resources Guide

FOR PHYSICIANS AND CARE TEAM MEMBERS

This guide is intended to help CWC PCN physician members and their teams support patients with nutrition-related needs. Local programs, services, and resources are included where appropriate. For common concerns, the Health Link Dietitian Service, the Alberta Healthy Living Program, or our Primary Care Registered Nurses can provide support.

Information in this Nutrition Resources Guide was accurate as of March 25, 2024, and will be reviewed and updated semi-annually.

Alberta Healthy Living Program (AHLP)

The AHLP is a community-based chronic disease management program that provides education and self-management support, workshops, and supervised exercise programs. Programs are available both virtually and in person in several languages.

The AHLP offers various dietitian-led group courses for chronic conditions (see table below). Courses can be accessed via self-referral.

One-on-one appointments with an AHLP dietitian are also available. Before booking one-onone nutrition counselling, participants may be asked to attend a relevant health education class. The service can be accessed by referral from a healthcare provider or by self-referral (patients can call 403.943.2584 to register).

Health Link Dietitian Service

The Health Link Dietitian Service provides a variety of services, including adult and pediatric nutrition advice, resource navigation, and referrals to community nutrition programs. A referral to one-on-one counselling with a dietitian may also be arranged where appropriate. Patients can complete an online self-referral or call 811 and request to speak to a dietitian. They will receive a call back within three business days.

Primary Care Registered Nurses (PCRNs)

For CWC PCN members who have an assigned PCRN, their expertise extends to assisting patients with a range of nutrition-related topics. These include obesity, diabetes/prediabetes, non-alcoholic fatty liver disease (NAFLD), heart health, suspected IBS (preliminary), emotional eating, and resource navigation.
